Additional Employee Test Positive, One Showing Symptoms for COVID-19 at Claremont Nursing and Rehabilitation Center

Carlisle, PA – Claremont Nursing and Rehabilitation Center (CNRC) today announced that another staff member has tested positive for COVID-19, and another employee has symptoms. This brings the total number of staffers to eight since the pandemic began. The staffers who have tested positive are in isolation or have recovered.

The facility is working with the Pennsylvania Department of Health's Epidemiologist to conduct universal testing for the virus.

To date, no residents have tested positive for COVID-19.

Claremont continues to follow CDC and the Pennsylvania Department of Health's COVID-19 guidelines for its residents and employees.
