UPDATE: Two Additional COVID-19 Resident Deaths And An Additional Employee Case At Claremont Nursing and Rehabilitation Center

Carlisle, PA – Claremont Nursing Home and Rehabilitation Center (CNRC) today reported that two additional residents have passed away due to the COVID-19 virus.

As of the latest universal testing results, one additional employee has tested positive for COVID-19 at Claremont Nursing and Rehabilitation Center (CNRC). Currently, the facility has 39 residents and 14 employees who have tested positive since weekly testing resumed on Thursday, Nov. 5.

Testing will continue until there are no positive cases. All families have been notified. Since the pandemic began in February, three residents have died, 41 residents and 26 staffers have tested positive for the virus. All visitation has ceased for the safety of the residents, staff and visitors, with the exception of end of life.
