Cumberland County Commissioners Celebrate Life Of Chief Clerk Sandy Moyle

Carlisle, PA – The Cumberland County Commissioners today remembered Chief Clerk Sandy Moyle, who passed away on Christmas Day after a long illness. During a public meeting, the commissioners ordered the county flag be flown at half-staff until Tuesday, Jan. 18, 2021, in memory of Sandy, as a testament to her commitment and contribution to Cumberland County.

“With a heavy heart we announce the passing of our chief clerk, Sandy Moyle, who served the county for nearly seven years,” said Commissioner Gary Eichelberger. “Sandy was a remarkable woman whose dedication and commitment extended to all employees and the residents of Cumberland County.”

“As the newest county commissioner, Sandy welcomed me with open arms into the world of county government,” said Commissioner Jean Foschi. “She was held in high esteem by her staff, the board of commissioners and all who serve in county government.”

“We lost more than just a great employee, we lost a friend, leader, and a mentor to many,” said Commissioner Vince DiFilippo. “We will miss her immensely.”

Moyle served as Chief Clerk since 2018, and deputy chief clerk since 2014. Moyle worked for a district magistrate in Lewistown for 15 years and as senior associate for Public Financial Management in Harrisburg for 17 years. As chief clerk, Moyle managed the county’s day-to-day operations within the guidelines set forth by the Pennsylvania County Code and the Board of Commissioners.
