Recognizing Banned Books Week 2023 – Let Freedom Ring in County Libraries

Mechanicsburg, PA – Banned Books Week – October 1-7, 2023 - is an annual event celebrating the freedom to read. The week highlights the value of free and open access to information. Banned Books Week brings together the entire book community — librarians, booksellers, publishers, journalists, teachers, and readers of all types — in shared support of the freedom to seek and to express ideas, even those some consider unorthodox or unpopular.

The American Library Association \(ALA\) documented 1,269 demands to censor library books and resources in 2022, the highest number of attempted book bans since the organization began compiling data about censorship in libraries in 1982. The unparalleled number of reported book challenges in 2022 nearly doubles the 729 book challenges reported in 2021.

“Library workers are concerned with the risk and dangers of censorship, and the importance of free access to information,” said Carolyn Blatchley, Cumberland County Library System executive director. “The Cumberland County Library System and all of our member library locations will continue to support a literate and informed society by providing the community with uncensored access to library materials.”

The books featured during Banned Books Week have all been targeted for removal or restriction in libraries and schools.

By focusing on efforts across the country to remove or restrict access to books, Banned Books Week draws national attention to the harms of censorship. The ALA Office for Intellectual Freedom (OIF) compiles lists of challenged books as reported in the media and submitted by librarians and teachers across the country. The Top 13 Challenged Books of 2022 are:

1. Gender Queer: A Memoir by Maia Kobabe
