Cumberland County Bureau of Elections Warns About Voter Registration Scams

Carlisle, PA – The Cumberland County Bureau of Elections learned today that residents received calls and texts asking them to confirm their voter registration.

The robo caller tells the resident to confirm their voter registration by pressing pound (#). The caller states if the resident does not, their registration will be canceled.

Text messages have also been received with a link for residents to confirm their voter registration. These calls and texts are not coming from the Bureau of Elections.

Cumberland County does not communicate with its voters via robo calls or texts. Registering to vote or changing your registration cannot occur over the phone.

Residents are urged to report any suspicious calls or texts to the Bureau of Elections by emailing bureauofelections@cumberlandcountypa.gov or calling 717.240.6385.
