ESAP

Elementary Student Assistance Program is a service of Cumberland-Perry Mental Health and consultive support via Cumberland-Perry Drug & Alcohol. The program is designed to assist students in K-5 who may be struggling with overwhelming stress such as:

- Arguing with Parents
- Behavior Challenges
- Bullying
- COVID-19
- Death of Friend/Relative
- Difficulty Sleeping
- Drugs and/or Alcohol
- Feelings of Anxiety
- Loss of Appetite
- Parent Divorce
- Problems with Friends
- Problems in School
- School Attendance
- Stress or Depression
- Sudden Changes in Interests
- Suicidal Thoughts

The ESAP core team consists of professionally trained members including school staff and an ESAP mental health liaison. In addition, student assistance staff members from Cumberland-Perry Drug & Alcohol, Diakon, and Perry Human Services are available for student-related consultation. The team identifies issues, determines if the issues lie within the responsibility of the school, and makes recommendations to assist the student and family.

The ESAP process consists of four phases; Referral; Team Planning; Intervention & Recommendation; and Support & Follow-up. This voluntary program provides short-term assistance to help families access appropriate supportive services for their child to be successful within the home, school and community. Parents and caregivers are empowered to make all decisions for their child's needs. The Team also assists with making referrals to access appropriate resources and support for the family.

Questions & Answers about ESAP
